Observations...

By the Editor

Fred Bourgeois, Marshall of the Town of Waveland, tells us that he is definitely going to enforce the speed limit down there. The speed limit on the Beach Road is 35 miles per hour, and many folks have been using it for a speedway. For the last two months, Fred has just been cautioning folks to slow down and be a little more careful; but he says very little heed is being paid by some people. From here on out, it is going to be a ticket, and of course, you know the rest. . . . you are going to have to dig in your pocketbook if you feel that you cannot take perhaps a minute longer to get to your destination. . . . Why not be a little more careful in your driving, just a matter of a minute or so to get where you are going is not going to help you. I think of how much harm can come to you if you should accidentally injure some human being? Think of the loss of a life through your carelessness or haste. . . .

The question of the proposed housing project for the City of Bay St. Louis is still a much discussed subject. There are many questions which are not clear in the minds of many. . . . We discussed the question with a member of the local authority a few days ago, and we were hopeful he would give us, in writing, some of the facts appertaining thereto. . . . We understand that a representative of the regional authority will appear before the Rotary Club at an early date to discuss the matter. . . . Anyhow there are many moot questions in the minds of many residents as to the need of public housing in Bay St. Louis. . . .

Mrs. Vital Bourgeois of Waveland, Chairman of the Easter Seal Drive for the aid to crippled children, has distributed seals throughout the county. . . . The quota for the County is $400.00. . . . She is hopeful that this amount will be raised, and is urging those, to whom the seals were forwarded, to make their returns as early as possible.

Flying Q, a gelding, owned by Emilio Cue of Bay St. Louis, won a race at the Fairgrounds race track in New Orleans last Thursday. Flying Q was foaled on Mr. Cue's farm on Bayou LaCrosse some five years ago. . . . He has several other yearlings at his place and recently sent three mares to Kentucky to be bred. These are the first thoroughbred race horses raised in Hancock County, and Dick is hopeful that good horses can be developed, as well here as in other sections of the County.

The Annual American Red Cross Drive will start March 7. The quota for Hancock County is $400.00. A. C. Mitchell, Clerk of Courts in Hancock County has been named Chairman of the Drive with Bob Hamilton as Publicity Chairman. Throughout the years, the Red Cross quota has been met in Hancock County, and this year should prove no exception. We in Hancock County have much to be thankful for to the American Red Cross. Our people received much assistance from them in time of need, particularly after the 1947 hurricane. We should bear this in mind, ever thoughtful of the fact that some day we may again need this assistance and when the time comes, which we sincerely hope will never be, we can rest assured the American Red Cross will respond. . . . So, when you are asked to contribute to this worthy cause won't you think of this. . . .

Our political column is growing bigger and bigger each week, and as yet the bigger boys haven't announced. From all indications there will be a banner crop of candidates this summer; and from what we hear the race we are in for Supervisor will be no exception. We are going to print some tags for the boys to wear so that they will refrain from soliciting one another's vote. . . . This is for you boys who have not announced as yet. . . . Folks may get the idea you are not going to run; better get your announcement in the paper pretty soon. . . . Time is growing shorter day by day. . . . There are only five months and five days left to election day. . . .

Theatre Proposes New Method for Awarding Oscars at Called Meeting

Join Legion Now Commander Says

"You've earned the right to belong to the American Legion," Fred Fayard, Sr., Commander of the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139, stated. . . . In continuing, Commander Fayard said, "you've earned the right to belong by your honorable service in World War I or II. The American Legion is an exclusive outfit. You have to have an honorable discharge from wartime service. You cannot buy your way in with money, and you do not have to wait until someone asks you. All ex-servicemen are invited to join now."

In order to join the Legion, all that has to be done is to contact any Legionnaire and he will fill in the application. . . . "It requires a tremendous amount of manpower to carry on such activities for 'God and Country' as a citizen and a veteran," Fayard added. "You can carry your share of the load by joining the Legion Post. It was teamwork that won in World Wars I and II, and it is teamwork in the Legion that makes these programs possible. It's pulling together that gets the job done. Why not join the Legion today?"

Members of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre discussed a new method for awarding the annual Oscars at a meeting called by Mrs. Oliver L. Radford, president, Sunday, February 25.

AMENDMENT
Until a discussion arose at the last general meeting held in January, the selection of those to receive the awards was made by popular vote of the members present at the general meeting. An amendment was made to this article in the Little Theatre constitution that gave those eligible to vote, but they were unable to attend the general meeting, permission to vote by mail or proxy.

CRITIC COMMITTEE
At this meeting, the group suggested that the selection of those to receive Oscars shall be made by a critic committee, composed of members whose names would be unknown to anyone but the president. This committee would be selected by the Board of Directors; each board member would have the privilege of choosing three members.

MUST SEE ALL PLAYS
Each Committee member must see all six plays presented during the year; and anyone failing to comply with these stipulations will be automatically removed from this committee. Sealed ballots, with the selections, will be returned, in person, to the president and will not be opened until the time of the annual meeting. At this time they will be opened by tellers, appointed by the president, who will tally the votes. Awards will be made from their findings.

A motion was made to hold this proposal for a 30 day period, after which it will be voted on by the membership at a called meeting, the date to be announced later.

Coast Electric's repair crew returned this week from the central part of the State after an absence of more than three weeks during which time they assisted two other Co-ops in restoring service and making repairs to their systems damaged during the recent ice storm.

Three trucks and ten men were sent by Coast Electric to Clinton February 1, and these same men and equipment were transferred to Yazoo City February 17.

Reports received from the men of the snow and ice damage and the extent of the emergency, recall vividly the damage of Coast Electric's own system in the 1947 hurricane. H. H. Shattuck, manager, stated. Also will remember the manager continued, is the fact that other systems which were not injured, joined together and helped restore service.

Members of Coast Electric's crew in this emergency relief at Clinton and Yazoo City were Arthur Miller, Curtis Holman, Olige Necaise, Ernest Netto, Wesley Haas, Everett Necaise, Herbert Tartavouille, Lawrence Lader and Edwin Higgins.

Albert D. Biehl, Sr. was named a colonel on the staff of Governor Earl K. Long, February 16, 1951.

Colonel Biehl, who has a home here on Union street, is employed by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. He resided here permanently with his family until they found it necessary to move to New Orleans several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Biehl have four children, three daughters and a son, A. D. Biehl, Jr., who is a resident of Bay St. Louis.

Former Resident Honored By L & N

Surrounded by his family and officers of the M. N. O. and P. Division of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, Robert B. Deacon was presented a commemorative watch in the office of M. R. Black, superintendent, Mobile.

Mr. Deacon, former resident of Bay St. Louis, was first employed by the L. and N. as a watchman in the New Orleans Freight house in 1900. He transferred to brake man in 1905 and received a promotion to conductor in 1939. Mr. Deacon served the road in this capacity until his retirement in 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Deacon now reside at Ocean Springs.

Mr. Black made the presentation to Mr. Deacon in recognition of his 50 years of service. At the presentation were Mrs. Deacon and their daughter, Mrs. E. C. Scott, and her husband, Lieutenant-Colonel E. C. Scott.

Miss. Betty Lee Mitchell and John Scafide To Have Leads in Next Play, "Born Yesterday"

Miss Betty Lee Mitchell and John Scafide will have the leading roles in the forthcoming Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's production of the Broadway comedy hit, "Born Yesterday." The play, to be presented at the Theatre on Boardman avenue March 29, 30 and 31, will be directed by Miss Mitchell.

LEADING CHARACTERS
The leading characters are Billie Dawn, the ex-chorus girl with more glamour than grammar, and the roughneck war profiteer who thinks his gift of a fur coat gives him a lifetime option on Billie's affections.

These are the coveted roles that first catapulted Judy Holliday and Paul Douglas to stardom and consequently film fame when "Born Yesterday" began its fabulous run in New York.

Announcement of other portrayals in the cast will be made at a later date.

An amusing story concerning the author of "Born Yesterday" tells of his entrance into the Army early in the last war. Garson Kanin drew, as his first assignment, the duties of a drill sergeant. Someone had seen the word "director," on his forms and decided he would make an unusual drill sergeant.

One day a call came from the C. O. to report immediately. "You Kanin?" asked the Colonel. "Yes Sir," replied the author. The Colonel scrutinized the spindly young rookie for a full two minutes then dismissed him. A Lieutenant later explained that the Colonel had been going over the records and noted Kanin's salary was listed as $2,500.00 a week. He had just wanted to see what a man who earned that kind of money looked like.

WRITTEN IN ARMY
"Born Yesterday" was written during Kanin's sojourn in the service; in addition to directing drills, he also had time to write a successful play.

Lehleitner Tells Of U N Failure

George Lehleitner told his reasons for believing that the United Nations is a failure, to the U. N. study group of the League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis Monday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lehleitner. Refreshments were served during the general discussion which followed the address.

Among those present were Mrs. John Husband, Rev. Charles R. Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Joseph Scharff, Larry Scharff, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Al Weinfurter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Samuel and Mrs. Louise Oxenham.

The League's board met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel. The slate of the nominating committee was read and approved, and plans were made for the general meeting which will be held the last week in March.

Missionaries Give Addresses Sunday

Dr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Stuntz, of Lahore, Pakistan, gave missionary addresses in the Methodist Church Sunday, February 18.

Dr. and Mrs. Stuntz have spent 35 years of missionary service in India and Pakistan, living mostly in the City of Lahore. Dr. Stuntz is the son of the late Bishop Homer C. Stuntz of the Methodist church and was taken early in life to India when Bishop Stuntz began his career as a missionary. He later accompanied his father to the Philippine Islands, and after finishing his college and seminary work went with Mrs. Stuntz as missionaries to India.

Mrs. Stuntz is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. P. M. Walters of the New York conference, and has a sister who, until a year ago, was a Medical Missionary in charge of the large Mission Hospital located in Wu-ho, China. When she had to return because of Communist occupation of China last year, she accepted the call to go to Canto, Liberia in West Africa to start a Mission Hospital.

Dr. Stuntz said "We live in critical times, but that is a situation that has always confronted mankind. It is said that one of the earliest inscriptions found in Egypt is a record of the fact that very critical times faced the people then. Civilization hung in the balance. A critical time is a time of challenge and a time of opportunity. Let us remember that with God on our side—rather, being on God's side—who can be against us? His will shall be brought to pass. Therefore, the force of the church must be used to the utmost to demonstrate that Will of God to Mankind." Dr. Stuntz continued.

This is the meaning of the Missionary movement to demonstrate by word, life and deed the meaning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, which is the complete revelation of the Will of God for mankind, to all men everywhere. Not only is this done by direct evangelization, wherein the direct testimony is given to the transforming power of the Gospel, but in other ways as well, for we remember the words of Christ, "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Hence, according to Dr. Stuntz, "the missionary becomes concerned over every form of need. It was William Carey, one of the first missionaries to India, who started the educational program that has become the form for all educational work in India and Pakistan. It was a Methodist girl, Clara Smith, who started the first hospital for women in the far east at Bareilly, India; and it was Edwin Parker who started the first technical school for boys in Cawnpore, India. The missionary has pioneered in many fields, and has made it possible for Governments and other Philanthropic bodies to follow in the many ways of confirming the Gospel of Jesus Christ, by life and deed."

Mrs. Stuntz showed slides at the church Sunday evening of the work of the different countries and cities where the work of missionaries is being done. Dr. and Mrs. Stuntz are in the United States on a short furlough they will return to Pakistan in September of this year.

Jackson, Miss.

A. C. Mitchell, Clerk of Courts, will lead the 1951 Red Cross Fund Campaign in Hancock County, starting March 7. The goal for the local Chapter this year is $4,600.

NATIONAL GOAL $85 MILLION

Robert L. Hamilton will serve as public information chairman during the month long drive which has a national goal of $85,000,000. Mrs. Roger M. Boh, Sr., will be in charge of the bus-beds houses; Mrs. E. C. Carrere, the Waveland division; Lucy Belle, colored division; Mrs. Eunice Casanova, Logtown division; and Ethel Christmas, colored division in Logtown.

EXPLAINED PROGRAM
Brig. General David Sarnoff, chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation of America is National Fund Campaign Chairman. He has listed the following as principal points in the expanded Red Cross program:

1. Acting as official agency for collection of blood and its derivatives for the military and coordinating the collection of blood derivatives for civil defense. To fully meet these and regular civilian needs, the Red Cross must collect 1,500,000 pints of blood this year.
2. Training 20,000,000 persons in first aid, including treatment of injuries from atom bomb attack.
3. Training 100,000 and reactivating 150,000 nurse's aides and training 1,000,000 Housewives in home nursing for civil defense.
4. Assisting civil defense in providing food clothing and shelter during an emergency period.
5. Expansion of Red Cross services to the armed forces to meet the needs of the proposed 3,000,000-man fighting force.

SUFFICIENT RESOURCES
In order to carry out this expanded program, the American Red Cross this year asks for sufficient resources to expand and intensify every service in its program.

"The nation's armed forces on land, on sea, and in the air are being doubled in size. The Red Cross must be prepared to serve them at home and overseas," Mr. Mitchell stated.

The Chairman continued to say that "the strengthening of the nation is not a task for the armed forces alone. The American people must mobilize for service to their neighbors and their communities. It is a time for all to acquire some skill that will give confidence and steady nerves and prepare people to help themselves and others in times of emergency."

INCREASED BUDGET
"Serving our expanded armed forces will require a budget nearly three million dollars greater than the current year," Mitchell said.

"The health and safety services, which include the vital needed training programs in first aid and home nursing, will require a budget more than half a million dollars greater than the current year."

Mr. Mitchell asks that all contributions be sent in as early as possible to enable Hancock County to once again meet its quota. "Support of the Red Cross is a contribution to the security of our families, our communities, and the defense of world peace," Mitchell concluded.

STILL CONFIDENT

One of the main topics of conversation these days is the action of the Highway Commission in locating the new bridge over the Bay of St. Louis at the North end of town. This action, of course, has not set too well with a great majority of the folks, including us. The newspapers have covered both sides of the issue, and the actions of the various groups in their fight on location, and we do not think that the action taken by the commission is not final.

Some of the people engaged in this controversy, naturally, are interested from a monetary viewpoint, and certainly if they are to sustain a loss they should have much interest. Others, who have no property along the highway, have worked diligently and hard to have the proposed bridge follow the same route, feeling that its removal to the northern location would cause a loss of business to the people of the city. Too, it would be an imposition on the people who have legitimate businesses on the highway, who, in order to continue, would have to purchase new sites and erect places, if possible, at great costs, all of which would probably offset any so called additional cost of the building of the bridge as between the two locations.

Another phase which should be taken into consideration is the fact that the majority, and we would dare say, practically all of the people on the northern location, do not want the bridge there. This is a residential section, with the off-the-beach property developing rapidly; and certainly the people do not want their homes removed or added to the right of way of the most travelled highway in the State. The Commission, or any other public body for that matter, should not force upon people something they do not want.

We feel that the people of Bay St. Louis have been able to analyze the situation from every angle; and even though the Commission has voted to place the bridge at the North end, they are continuing in their efforts to have them reconsider their action, with the thought and the feeling that it is the best thing for Bay St. Louis.

We are still confident that the final action of the Highway Commission will be to give the people of Bay St. Louis, who a great majority of them want, the proposed new bridge in the location of the present one.

P. C. Y. C. To Launch Sailing In April

The governing board of the P. C. Y. C. has set the first week in April for the launching of the fish boats to inaugurate the sailing season's activities. All of these boats have been reconstructed and fitted with brand new sails. They are shipshape!

The Gulf Yachting Association's opening regatta has been set for May 5th and 6th at the Fairhope Yacht Club. This event is open to all members of the P. C. Y. C., namely: Bay-Waveland, Biloxi, Fairhope, Buccaneer of Mobile, Mobile, Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans, St. Andrews Bay Yacht Club of Panama City, Pensacola, Sarasota, St. Petersburg and Pass Christian. One race will be sailed on Saturday with two on the following Sunday.

In order for the experts to have an opportunity to get in some practice in sailing before the opening regatta, the P. C. Y. C. has arranged a series of reciprocal team races with Southern Yacht Club and Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. This series will start about the middle of March and last through April. All fish class expert sailors are invited to register with their respective clubs.

St. Andrews Bay Yacht Club copied the Lipton Cup last year. P. C. Y. C. is going to make a strenuous effort to capture it this season. They are sending their best year's star, Jules Brown, along with some new blood who have been expert sailors in the past in the persons of Fred Suter, Cary Spence and Henry Roux. Great things are expected of Pass Sailors this year.

The large dredge that is at present filling the 27 mile sand beach from Henderson point to Biloxi, Mississippi, is expected to be at the inner Harbor of the P. C. Y. C. at Pass Christian some time in April to dig a 15 foot harbor. This will be good news for deep draft boat owners, enabling them to anchor in the protected harbor of the Pass Christian Yacht club.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph S. Hecht, of Middlegate, Pass Christian, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Watkins Hecht, to Ash Walker Cooper, Jr., son of the late Mr. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, the latter of New Orleans. The date the wedding will be solemnized will be announced later.

Miss Hecht is a graduate of Miss McGhee's school, New Orleans and Newcomb College. She is a member of Phi Beta Phi and the New Orleans Junior League.

Mr. Cooper is a graduate of Tulane, member of the Beta Theta Pi, and served overseas in World War II in the Army Signal Corps.

COMPLIMENT MISS FITZPATRICK

Mesdames C. E. Spence and John H. Lang were co-hostesses last Wednesday night complimenting Miss Elaine Fitzpatrick, bride-elect of early March of Donald John DeMetz, U. S. Merchant Marine Officer Corps. They entertained at a miscellaneous shower at 252 East Second street at which there was a gathering of the two families and a few additional friends of the honoree. About the reception rooms were crystal bowls holding pink sweetpeas, and at the punch table pink and white were prominently used in the cake and punch color scheme.

Mrs. H. S. Pulkowski assisted Mrs. Lang at the punch table which was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of blush sweetpeas and Miss Fitzpatrick cut the bride's cake, which was later served by Mrs. G. P. Fulgum.

Miss Patsy Cox won the prize for the correct letter in a contest spelling out the honoree's name, and Mrs. James C. Witt, main, who motored to the reception for identifying the correct number in the groom-elect's given name.

Miss Fitzpatrick wore a tulle-trimmed dress in a captain's navy of non-crushable taffeta trimmed with navy beading of the pockets. She was presented a heart-shaped corsage of petal white snap-dragon and waxed pink confederate Jasmine outlined in tulle edging.

Mrs. Lang received in an aqua gown with pearl trim, and Mrs. Spence in black crepe.

Mrs. J. A. Hodges and her two young sons, Al and John, were recent visitors to Mobile, Alabama, where they met Mr. Hodges who motored to the Pass with them to spend the week-end in their home on Clarence Avenue. Mr. Hodges is employed in the Mobile Branch of Swift and Company.

Pass Echoes

The Pass Christian Rotary Club celebrated the forty-sixth International anniversary at their Tuesday meeting at the Miramar Hotel.

Mr. Tom S. Adams, program chairman for the week provided an outstanding program in having Dr. Richard Cox, affectionately known as the Daddy of the Pass Christian Club, as guest speaker. Dr. Cox was formerly the head of Gulf Park College for many years, an early president of the Gulfport Rotary Club, and a past District Governor of the 6th District. The Pass Christian Club was "born" April, 1905 and the following year Dr. Cox aided in founding the Bay St. Louis Club, 1925.

It was indeed a pleasure for the whole membership and visitors to hear Dr. Cox once again present a fine Rotary talk. He mentioned the birth of Rotary, its struggles at first, only catching on in the large cities, but suddenly blooming right along, and quickly so, to what it is today. The first real convention held in Chicago in 1912 brought forth 29 members. How nice though to look back in retrospect and then compare those days with Rotary today. In Seattle Washington, in 1912, there were fifty clubs represented at the convention with a membership of 5,000; then, in Los Angeles, California in 1921, which was one of the first conventions Dr. Cox attended as representative of the Gulfport Club, there were 18 countries represented made up of 1,212 clubs with a membership of 81,000 at that time.

Quite a phenomenal growth in the period of nine years. Rotary takes pride in its accomplishments, through its four services club, community vocational and international all to make for its success. The challenge of Rotary is its motto, "He Profits Most Who Serves Best," now cut down to "To Service Above Self." Dr. Cox says of the many thoughts expressed of Rotary being successful, that it is its very character, being the true spirit of Rotary.

Visiting Rotarians were Harold Barber, Don Shepherd, members of the Gulfport Rotary Club; J. W. Dupaque, Dr. G. P. Jones, Ben Hill, Wilmer Thibault, Dick Shadoin members of the Bay St. Louis Rotary and Lyman Page, of the Green, New York.

Other guests present at the meeting, which was presided over by Dr. C. D. Taylor, Jr., President were J. Marshall Frye, who was a guest of Tom Adams, Robert Heistand, of Baltimore Maryland, guest of Lyman Page and Leroy Lizana, high school Rotarian for the month of February, representing Pass Christian public school. Leroy gave a brief parting speech to the group as it was the last meeting for the month.

Miss La Vada Powell, daughter of Mrs. Le Virda Powell and the late Mr. Powell, of Mount Emmons, Utah, and Mr. Thomas B. McDonald, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. McDonald of Pass Christian, Mississippi, were married February 3 in a ceremony conducted at Salt Lake City Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Neacise stood as best man and maid of honor for the young couple. Mr. McDonald is a graduate of the Pass Christian high school, class of '47, and attended East Central Junior College at Decatur, Mississippi. He was employed by the Welch Plainville Mills in Midville, Utah, and enlisted in the U. S. Navy January 29th. At present he is stationed at the U. S. Naval Training Center at San Diego, California, where he will receive his basic training.

The Pass Christian Home Demonstration Club held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. Dan Wheeler, East Beach, with Mrs. O. B. Read as co-hostess.

MISSISSIPPI PATRONAGE

The lid finally blew off of the simmering pot in the so-called Trumanat patronage controversy in Mississippi this past week. Mississippi's Senators Eastland and Stennis made statements upon the floor of the Senate calling for an investigation of the ugly charges being made of selling of Federal jobs in Mississippi. Simultaneously six of Mississippi's seven Representatives in the House, Congressmen Jamie L. Whitten, Frank E. Smith, Thomas C. Abernethy, Arthur Winstead, John Bell Williams, and William M. Colmer, issued the following statement:

"Information has been volunteered to us over a period of many months that post offices, rural routes and other Federal positions of employment are being bartered in Mississippi by persons reputedly affiliated with the so-called Trumanite committee in the State. This self-appointed group is officially recognized by the Democrat National Committee, and serves as its instrumentality in our state.

"We have been informed that jobs have been offered for sale for prices ranging as high as $1500 with no checks acceptable—cash only. We have also been informed that veterans, who under law are entitled to preference in Federal employment have been solicited for large sums of money in order to secure Federal jobs.

"These reports are widespread, very common, and have become a subject of ordinary everyday discussion in almost every community of the state. They have heretofore been forcibly and frequently brought to the attention of high officials here in Washington.

"The charges are serious indeed. They point to a most serious situation which must be investigated, and appropriate Federal action should be taken in all cases where there is evidence of such.

"This is not a political question. It is one which involves

Entertains Veterans

The ladies of the First Baptist church entertained 19 of the Veterans from the Gulfport hospital Tuesday in the annex of the church.

Refreshments were served and the young Peoples choir of the church sang several selections. Penny Sue Webre sang "Tennessee Waltz" and Jane Siren sang "The Thing."

Members in charge were Mrs. A. H. Gregory, Mrs. A. L. Siren, Miss Carol Siren, Mrs. W. Webre and Mrs. Earl Raymond.

decency in Government and honesty in administration of Federal affairs in our state."

Personally, I am indifferent about patronage. I have always contended that it was a political liability rather than an asset. As a Representative of my people I would consider it my duty to handle it as I did prior to the 1948 Presidential Election if given the opportunity without any strings attached. But as between having political patronage and being an independent Congressman I would prefer political independence if I had to choose between them.

Logging It On TV

By JAY METZ

Before we settle down to the usual criticizing, we would like to give an unfrozen camellia to WDSU-TV for their excellent programs last Saturday and Sunday. We must confess that we didn't sit up too late, but what we saw during the two days was most enjoyable. Naturally when New Orleans' own Telekids came on we turned the set off for that well-needed rest. The reason for this action has been discussed in a previous article.

We all think that Danny Thomas is tops, and he didn't let us down last Sunday either. Danny, among other things, said that he had a cold for six weeks but his doctor was unable to cure it. As a matter of fact, he had been charged $42 for having his throat painted whereas he could have had his kitchen painted for just $12. Upon applying a little pressure on doctors, he said, he was advised to take a hot bath and stand in front of an open window on a cold night since the medical profession had a cure for pneumonia.

Which might give all us folks who just had plain ordinary colds a lesser feeling of inferiority when chatting with some of our friends who had the flu. After all, who amongst us couldn't have stood in front of an open window on a cold, cold night?

Whenever I gather my notes of what has transpired on TV over the past week in order to write this column, I always find a reference or two to a Thursday night wrestling. A Thursday or so ago, Mel Lea, with added a new and pleasant feature by reading portions of some of his letters received from wrestling fans. We enjoyed it especially when most of the comments were similar to our own impression. I hope that he keeps it up.

One thing that amazes me on that wrestling affair is that Mel, ordinarily a sound and solid person, sits at his mike and tells us all about how the wrestling gladiators are beating the daylights out of each other. They swing and miss, they conveniently assume positions for the opponent, and otherwise in general, perform according to (I suspect) a pre-arranged script. But all the time that this is going on, Mel is giving us a running account of the "terrific" beating taking place right before our eyes.

Now, we are sure that Mel is not so naive as to believe the warriors are hurting each other very much. Nor should he think his audience is so gullible as to believe what he describes as against what we actually see. There's a difference—many times the camera angle is just right and we see blows missed, but the intended victim follows the script like a good actor and snaps his head back and grimaces just as though he had been severely damaged. What I'd like to suggest is that Mel follow the example of boxing. That is, identify the gladiators occasionally, and let them wrestle while he talks of other things—or make an occasional comment in the action, if unusual. We enjoy wrestling, even though bizarre, but like to form our own opinion as to what we see and don't see.

Turn the idea over to your assistant while you are in Florida. Mel. See if the thing has merit.

The speaker showed a film entitled "The Peace Plan from Heaven." It was filmed by Paul Lawrence of San Anselmo, California, in fulfillment of a promise made to Mary by Lawrence while fighting in the Pacific in World War II.

Lawrence's home town, San Anselmo, provided most of the cast for the picture. The local dentist volunteered to play the part of the atheist mayor of the little Portuguese town; Paul's father played the Bishop of Fa-

Chiropractic Founders Day

March 7th marks the birthdate of Dr. David Daniel Palmer, the Discoverer of Chiropractic.

Dr. D. D. Palmer was a man of vision, but he was also a realist. He knew that conventional healers would be slow to accept the revolutionary principle established by his discovery. This Chiropractic principle contends—that the cause of disease in the body is the vertebral subluxation—misalignment of the vertebra—which creates pressure or an "impingement" upon nerves, and interferes with the normal transmission of vital nerve energy.

The Chiropractic objective is to locate the exact place in the spine where nerve pressure exists due to a vertebral subluxation, and by proper adjustment release the pressure on nerves, and thereby remove the real cause of disease in the body.

Dr. Palmer would be gratified to know if he were alive today that 40,000,000 Americans consult 20,000 Chiropractors annually to serve their health needs. Certainly such public acceptance merits our recognition of the founder of Chiropractic and marks him as one of the great men of this age as we celebrate his birthday, March 7.

Attends Insurance Meet

Miss Louise Milner, home economics student at Mississippi Southern College, is pictured demonstrating the proper methods of preparing an oven meal and a complete meal in the deep well cooker to the students of Kiln High School.

Miss Milner, who spent a week at the local Coast Electric Power Association building under the supervision of Miss Loyette Webb, electro-home economist, is majoring in equipment. She is a resident of Gulfport.

The Kiln classes were guests of Coast Electric at this range and laundry demonstration given by Miss Milner.

The State Health Officer Says:

During the month of February the American Heart Association launched its annual fund-raising campaign. Considerable emphasis has recently been given, therefore, to the seriousness of the heart disease problem and the necessity for its control. Here at the close of this special "heart disease control month" I would like to bring to your attention a few vividly important facts that everyone must remember throughout the year if we are to bring heart diseases under control. Think about the following facts:

"Disease of the heart and blood vessels kill more people in Mississippi and in the entire nation than does any other disease or condition."

People of any age may, and do, have such diseases. Congenital heart disease is found in babies born with defective hearts; rheumatic heart disease strikes school age children; acute bacterial endocarditis is usually found in 15 to 35 year olds. The middle aged are frequently found to have cardiovascular syphilis and high blood pressure. And coronary heart disease is primarily an affliction of middle and old age.

Heart diseases can, however, be controlled better than they now are. The situation is not hopeless. It can be changed for the better through improved educational, diagnostic, and treatment facilities. These will be provided readily through joint efforts of the State Medical Association and the State Board of Health when adequate funds are made available.

As a citizen, you have a large stake in this heart disease control program. It is you who, in the long run, will decide when an all-out campaign against heart disease will get underway. A Good Prescription

Samuel Williams, L.L.D., had a message for worried taxpayers and wool-gathering public officials in his book entitled "The Natural and Civil History of Vermont," published at Rutland in 1794.

The author stated that the place where corruption in government always makes its first appearance is in the cost of government. "It would be almost a miracle," he said, "if public affairs would not assume the same aspect and course in America. If it is prevented it will not be by government. It can alone be done by the virtue, the knowledge, the economy, and the sentiment of the people. . . .

"Ye people of the United States of America," said Samuel, "behold here the precarious foundation upon which ye hold your liberties. They rest not upon paper, nor upon the virtues, the vices or the designs of other men, but they depend upon yourselves; upon your maintaining your property, your knowledge and your virtues. Nature and society have joined to produce, and to establish freedom in America. . . .

"But nothing is so established among men that it may not change and vary. If you should lose that spirit of industry, of economy, of knowledge and of virtue, which led you to independence and to empire then, but not until then, will you lose your freedom: Preserve your virtues and your freedom will be perpetual!"

In the American concept, industry and economy are national virtues and freedom is not secure nor can prosperity be maintained except by a people who strive and save.

The effort is made to prevent inflation by setting up Federal Control over prices, wages and material. Whatever these may accomplish to stabilize the purchasing value of the dollar, the best way to stop inflation is to produce more and spend less. Industry and thrift are the virtues out of which our strength and prosperity sprang and through which our freedom and security will be perpetuated.

If we will work harder, spend less and save the difference, and heed the words of Samuel Williams to control the cost of government, we can have both butter and bullets and check inflation. Industry and thrift can cure most of the ills in a nation's ailing economy if we have the courage to take the prescription.

William Wufka of Germany Studies Democracy, Agriculture in Mississippi

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 21, Special) — Twenty-year-old blond William Wufka has rosy cheeks, twinkling blue eyes and a graphic conception of democracy in action.

Wilhelm, or William as we call him in America, is a bright, faced German youth who is studying Mississippi agriculture and American democracy on the 240-acre Delta farm of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Fiskerly five miles northeast of Sunflower, Mississippi.

Jointly sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation and a division of the U. S. Department of State, William's entry to the United States was arranged under the direction of the Mississippi Farm Bureau and many families of war-torn Germany. He arrived in Mississippi last July 1 and will return to Germany this July to make first hand observations of American life back to his native Germany.

Last week this writer spent a day with William and observed a remarkable adjustment in a boy with an eagerness to do a good job in his mission to America.

When this writer arrived at the Fiskerly farm, William was busy sowing through the wire to turn sweet-smelling babies of leopards into racks for the varied livestock on the farm. He had the care of a 197 head of feeder sheep. Then he shucked ears of corn for three Jersey breed sows and leaved over a staff door to sift mixed feed in troughs for a month-old Aberdeen Angus heifers.

Less than an hour earlier, William, dressed in a maroon corduroy sport coat and comfortable slacks and shoes, waved farewell to school chums on a Sunflower county school bus, and entered the large white house of the Fiskerlys. William is a freshman student at Sunflower Junior College. He divides his time between class work, homework, farm chores and a normal social life with boys and girls in the neighborhood.

The life, William will tell you, is vastly different from that of the ten previous years of his life.

War Ravaged Home
In a little stone house at number 95 in the village of Mallersdorf, Bavaria, there's a comely brown-eyed brunette 24 years old named Herta. She is fifty percent of William's remaining immediate family—his only sister. She wonders how William is making out in English-speaking America. She is anxious for July, 1951, when William comes home.

Herta and William, teamed up by fate to overcome many humanly depressing obstacles, remember well, when as children, they lived in a castle at Karlsbad, Czechoslovakia, where their father was overseer of some 500 acres of land. He was mayor of the village.

Then came war. William's two brothers, Walter and Erich, entered the German army. His mother contracted a disease and died in 1943. In 1944 Brother Erich was reported missing in action against the Russians in the vicinity of Ilman Sea.

V.E. Day, May 8, 1945! William was 16 years old. The American and Russian armies met and on their east-west border crossed Germany. Russian troops occupied Karlsbad and took Father Wufka away. Walter was placed in a concentration camp and later released. Father Wufka was unheard of.

German subjects were asked to move into Germany proper, and William and Herta left their home and boarded a train with thousands of Germans to go back into Germany. They arrived May 16, Herta was 26, and William was 16. Herta was a Mallersdorf, Bavaria, (a village near the border) and William was a Sunflower, Mississippi. They had a house and set up a home, with their 280 acres of land and house, and the things they brought with them.

William's employment as secretary in August, 1947, after their arrival, provided for their needs and in March, 1948, William enrolled in a German farm school, or "Landwirtschaftliche Schule."

DAWN OF A FUTURE
Under this school plan William and other German youths worked on farms during the crop months and attended classes from November through March. Their first year was an adjustment was made in the school that a scholarship was sent to top German students, providing for a year's study of agriculture and democracy in America.

William applied for the scholarship and received intensive training was selected over seven other boys in Mallersdorf. Next he was interviewed in Nienburg, Germany. William was accepted as one of the 128 German boys and 46 girls to come to America for the democratic and agricultural study.

On June 14, 1950, a troopship, steamed from Bremerhaven harbor. Nine days later easier German youths lined the ships rails to snap pictures of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor.

There was a bus excursion of New York City and then the students were notified to which states they were assigned. William had requested Mississippi.

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation headquarters in Jackson had a quota of two students. Many Mississippi families who had applied to receive students were considered. Those selected were the C. K. Fiskerlys of Sunflower and the J. O. Woods family of Hernando. Shortly, William, and Adolph Seipel, of Frankfurt, Germany, were gazing at the glistening interior of the Holland tunnel as they dived beneath the Hudson River headed South.

The pair arrived in Jackson July 1, 1950, an each was warmly received by his guardian family.

THE TASK
William was asked by Mississippi's wooden houses as he arrived at the large Fiskerly farm. Though he had studied English a short while in Germany, William and the Fiskerlys found they could not understand each other.

For many weeks they wrote notes, blushed and laughed to each other, and William embarked on a Mississippi farm work. Forced to eat, sleep and breathe English, William caught on rapidly to our language. He was adept and willing with farm chores. Summer flew rapidly with William driving tractors, cutting hay, swimming with the Fiskerly boys—Kelly, 18, Howard, 15, and Dale, 10.

Autumn found William enrolled at Sunflower Junior College where he undertook a mountainous task, including studying college level English composition. His first report card reflected a job well done.

He won spontaneous popularity among his classmates and is currently resident of the Sunflower Junior College YMCA. He attends Methodist Youth Fellowship, Farm Bureau meetings, dances, and other socials.

Last week William talked happily to this writer of his first six months in this country. He displayed a photograph album showing his German family, friends, and native German scenes. His eyes twinkled when he talked about his sister. They continued to twinkle as he talked of "dear American girls."

"Biggest difference in German and American girls," he says, "is that you can make a date with an American girl as soon as you meet her. It is not the way in Germany, he states. You have to know her a long time

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

PLAN LIBERTY GARDEN PROGRAM

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

The 1951 home garden and food preservation program in Mississippi will be known as the Liberty Garden Program. It calls for an expansion of both home gardens and food preparation activities in view of the present world situation.

Some of the benefits of such activities would be improvement of the diet, the health and morale, making the food budget go farther and contribute materially to National Defense.

All organized groups as Home Demonstration Clubs, Garden Clubs, Youth Groups and industrial and civic organizations will be called on to cooperate in the program.

Gardening time is here and every family with an available plot should have a garden of some type this year, whether it be a half acre or a pocket size garden. Recent freezes destroyed a number of plants, but there is still time to have a full spring and summer garden.

The preserving of food involves canning, freezing, drying and storage of surplus supplies of vegetables and fruits. Even if there are no surpluses from the garden, housewives can buy fresh vegetables for considerably lower prices during the season.

before you get a—what you call a date? Then, too, German girls do not wear lipstick.

In January, William's brother, Walter, got married and all the relatives joined in the festivities. Yes—they had each other a long time. William had known her for a long time, too.

Sometime in July, William doesn't know exactly when, he will have to pack up his American sport clothes, albums, memories, and leather Bavarian folk pants, and say goodbye to the Fiskerlys.

It won't be easy. This writer observed that.

But William's purpose is to go back home, see Herta, his friends back there, and set about the task of teaching other Germans what he learned about America—and Mississippi!

(Since this article was written the State Department has made arrangements for German students in this program to sail back to Germany on or about June 12, 1951, because of the critical ocean travel situation. Space on ships had to be acquired as it became available, the State Department explained.)

TREES TOO... are a CROP

ON VAST areas, best suited to the production of timber, trees are being planted, protected, grown, and harvested like any other crop.

Long past is the period when forests were cut to provide fields for agriculture. This is no longer necessary and the land now classified as forestland can be kept intact for the purpose of growing more trees.

We are in an era of managed forestry, and the forest industries, looking ahead, plan for the continuous production of tree crops.

We have learned that trees are a crop and, as such, can keep on producing useful harvests for the future.
